

Session G-3: Making the Invisible Visible: Employing Intersectionality as Inquiry and Praxis for Illuminating Complex Race, Gender, Class Inequalities in Health, Education and Labor for Equity-Minded Policy

Kelvin Choi, PhD, MPH

Acting Scientific Director & Senior Investigator
Division of Intramural Research, NIMHD

Federal Committee on Statistical Methodology
2024 Research and Policy Conference
Wednesday, October 23, 2024
3:30 PM
Chesapeake C

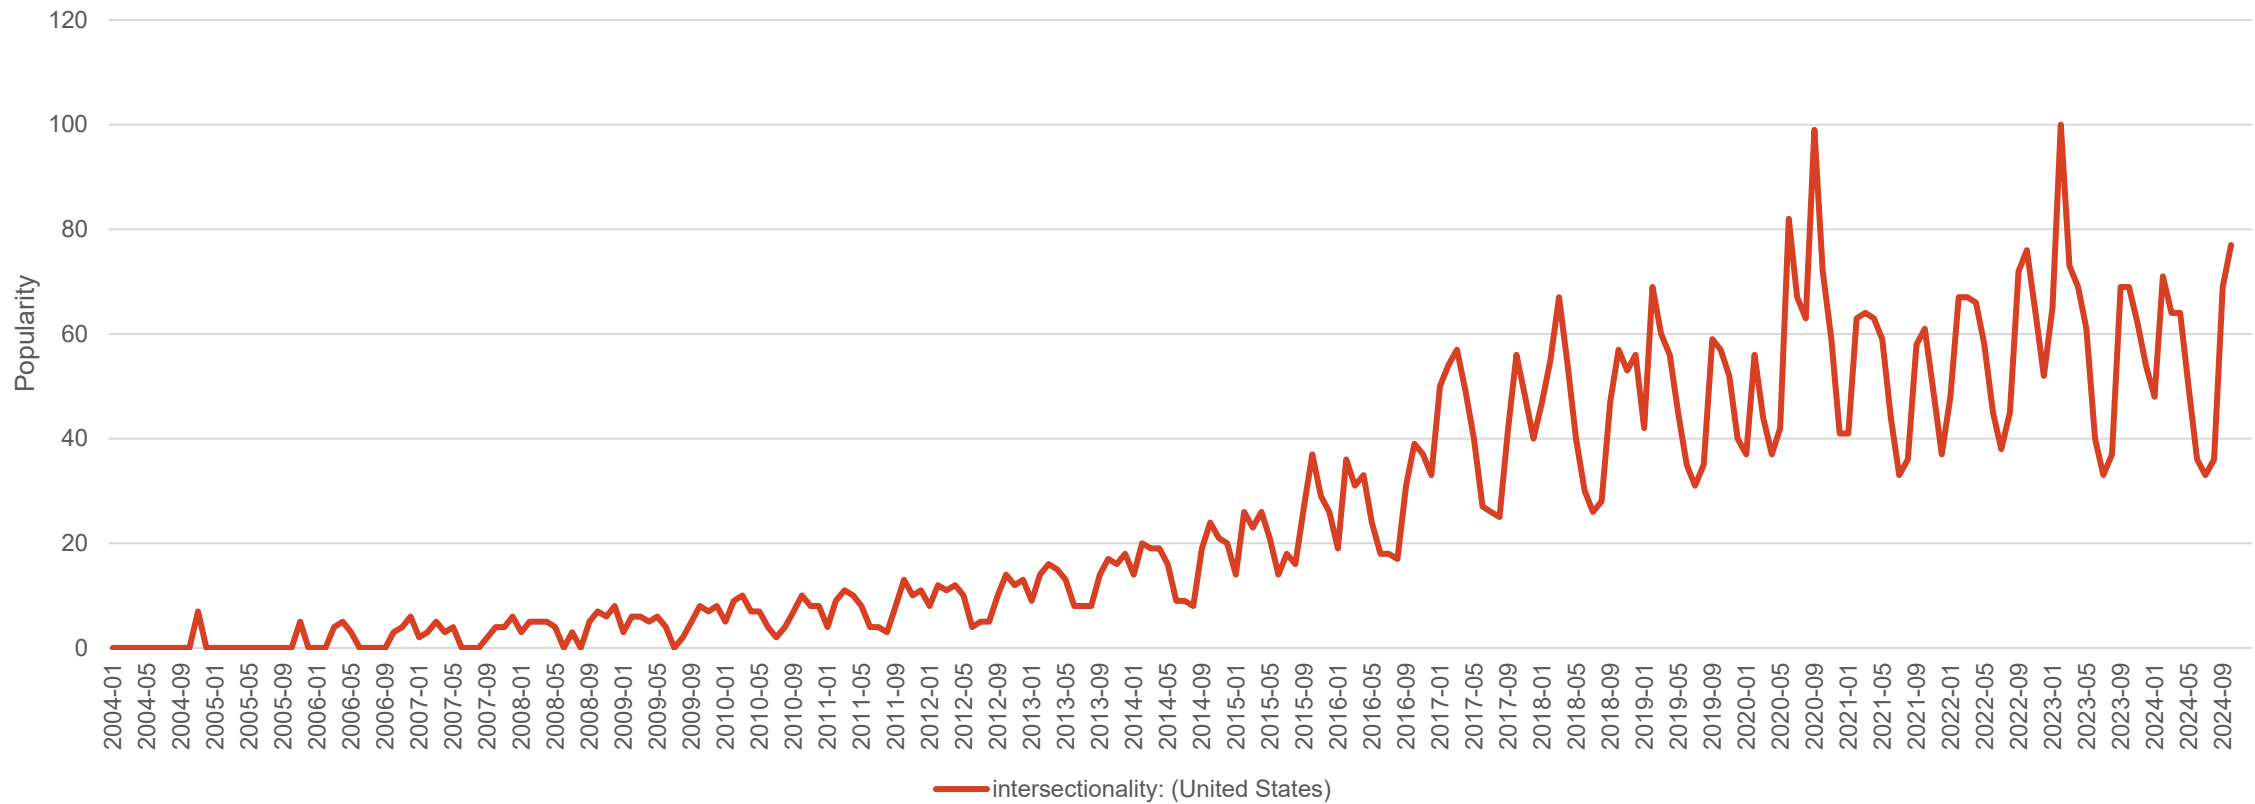

Disclaimers

- Opinions and comments expressed during this session belong to the presenters. They do not necessarily represent those of the US Government, Department of Health and Human Services, National Institutes of Health, and National Institute on Minority Health and Health Disparities.

Intersectionality: Google searches, 2004-present

Presentations

- Quantifying the Wage Gap for Black Women and Its Effect Beyond the Dollar ($)
- Association of Unfair Treatment in Health Care Settings with Multi-dimensional Measures of Race Among Hispanic/Latinx Adults
- Examining Shifts in the Black Latino Population in the Census Bureau's Modified Race Question
- Street Race and the Intra-categorical Complexity within Asian Americans
- Racial and Ethnic Categories and the Measurement of Inequality: The Case of U.S. Latinos
- Bridging Data Gaps in Educational Equity: An Intersectional Analysis Leveraging NPSAS
- Discussant

Interested in doing more with intersectionality?

- Are you interested in learning more about how intersectionality as inquiry and praxis can relate to your work in federal agencies? Would you be interested in creating a working group within FSCM to share data collection, research and analysis of quantitative data that employs intersectionality? Please email Dr. Nancy López at nlopez@unm.edu.
- Dr. Nancy López, Dr. Yasmiyn Irizarry, Dr. Edward Vargas are planning free Summer Institute for federal agency leads on Intersectionality and Race and Ethnic Data for Quantitative Research scheduled last week in June 2025 in Albuquerque, NM. Funded by RWJF.

